

I oppose loosening the rules designed to promote and protect diversity of media ownership. These rules were adopted to ensure that the public would receive a diverse range of viewpoints from the media, and not simply the opinions of a handful of media conglomerates.

As far as I can see you are buckling under the pressure of corporate lobbyists and are doing everything to help them aside from offering them your very jobs. Please get a backbone, do your job, and prove me wrong. It would be nice to know that our governmental institutions are standing up for our right to freedom of press. In an age where any voice of dissent is considered unpatriotic and government scare tactics are reflecting the horrors of McCarthy, America needs least of all further consolidation of the media. Do what's right. Don't loosen these vital laws. They're barely strict enough as it is.
